MIKURIYA SHRINE TREE MONEY

JAPAN

FROM THE MEDIEVAL AGES TO THE BEGINNING OF THE SINO JAPANESE INCIDENT (1932) VARIOUS SHRINES AND TEMPLES IN JAPAN ISSUED COMMEMORATIVE COINS ON THE COMPLETION OF CONSTRUCTION. THESE 'TREE SHAPED' COINS WERE THROWN FROM THE TOP OF THE MAIN BUILDING TO THE CROWD WHO GATHERED FOR THE OCCASION.

A FEW COMPLETE 'TREES' WERE GIVEN TO IMPORTANT OFFICIALS AND PERSONS AS A MEANS OF EXPRESSING GRATITUDE AND APPRECIATION TO THOSE WHO AUTHORIZED OR HELPED FINANCE THE BUILDING OF THE SHRINE OR TEMPLE. THE NUMBER OF COMPLETE TREES UNBROKEN WAS VERY SMALL, THUS THEY ARE QUITE RARE AND VERY HIGHLY PRIZED AMONG JAPANESE NUMISMATISTS WHO HAVE ALWAYS BEEN ARDENT COLLECTORS.

THIS TREE WAS MADE ON THE OPENING OF THE ' MIKURIYA SHRINE IN MYIE CITY NEAR KYOTO. THIS SHRINE HAD A 'COMING OR BAKING' GOD AS THE MAIN IDOL AS IT IS THE BELIEF THAT THE GOD OF THE ISE KOBAI JINGU(JAPANESE NATIONAL SHRINE) WAS FED HERE.

THIS SPECIMEN IS FROM THE MORITA COLLECTION OSAKA WHO RECENTLY PASSED AWAY AND HIS COLLECTION SOLD TO KUGAHARA IN TOKYO.

JAPAN.....KANE NO [illegible] Called " MONEY BEARING TREE". NOTE: These small broad based trees were NOT intended to be broken and the individual pieces used as money (altho they could be). These trees were made for the old trading companies for publicity and decorative purposes. They were used to offer prayers for commercial prosperity and were sold for the old trade guilds (KOU) meaning a group of tradesmen who met periodically to pray for prosperity to the God "EBISU". These small five coin broad based trees were usually "planted" in regular flower pots in dirt and were placed in the windows of the commercial establishment to bring prosperity. Very rare

JAPAN: MIKURIYA, MIYE PREFECT, ISE KODAI JINGU SHRINE (1850)
NOTE: This broad spread tree of 13 amulets is NOT a regular coin tree. From medieval ages until the Sino-Japanese incident in 1932 various shrines and temples in Japan cast commemorative "coins sic" to commemorate the completion of construction. These tree shaped "coins" were trown from the top of the new edifice to the crowds who gathered for the occasion.
A few complete trees were presented to officials and important people in gratitude and appreciation to those who authorize d or helped in building the shrine or temple.
This tree was cast to commemorate the opening of the MIKURIYA SHRINE in MYIE CITY near Kyoto. This shrine had a "cokking" or "baking" God as the main idol and it was believed that the God of the ISE KOBAI JINGU of the Jap National Shrine was fed here.

This specimen from the Morita Collection of Osaka who died recently.
